

El Dorado Water Agency Launches Redesigned Website

July 6, 2023, El Dorado Hills, CA -- Today, El Dorado Water Agency (EDWA) has announced the launch of its newly revamped website designed to help stakeholders and community members understand the important role the EDWA plays in planning for the county's long-term water resources. The enhanced website incorporates comprehensive content and an intuitive design to help users navigate the website, access resource materials, and learn about EDWA's numerous water programs and projects. The refreshed content aims to help improve readability and ensure readers can easily find and understand the most relevant and up-to-date information on EDWA's activities. The new website can be found at the same URL: edwateragency.org.

"Our primary goal during the redesign process was to create a more user-friendly site that makes it easier to access information about the work we are doing to address changing water resources needs, regulatory requirements, and climate variability," said Rebecca Guo, Interim General Manager. "We are excited that our digital footprint now reflects the important work we are doing to help secure El Dorado County's water future."

The new navigation on the website allows visitors to get both a high-level overview of EDWA's five programs as well as a deeper dive into the specific projects EDWA is working on. The updated content on the website highlights current partnerships, ongoing projects, and progress made in each of the five program areas. There are also dedicated pages with resources on drought planning, West Slope stormwater resources planning, and the Upper American River Watershed Program.
